R E P O R T

[To accompany H.R. 5076]

[Including cost estimate of the Congressional Budget Office]

The Committee on Financial Services, to whom was referred the bill (H.R. 5076) to amend the Federal Deposit Insurance Act to extend the examination cycle for certain insured depository institutions, having considered the same, report favorably thereon with an amendment and recommend that the bill as amended do pass.

Add at the end the following:

SEC. 3. GAO STUDY AND REPORT.

Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Comptroller General of the United States shall submit a report to the Congress on the effect of extending the examination cycle for qualifying institutions pursuant to section 2 of this Act on the ability of agencies to effectively supervise and protect the safety and soundness of qualifying institutions.

PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

Introduced by Representative Claudia Tenney on February 20, 2018, H.R. 5076, the “Small Bank Exam Cycle Improvement Act of 2018” amends the Federal Deposit Insurance Act (FDIA) to increase the qualifying asset threshold for insured depository institutions eligible for 18-month on-site examination cycles from $1 million to $3 billion.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

Section 10(d) of the FDIA generally provides that federal banking agencies must conduct a full-scope, on-site examination of each insured depository institution at least once during every 12-month period. As part of the examination process, federal financial regulators rate financial institutions on several criteria, including safety and soundness¹ and their compliance with legal and regulatory requirements. Regulators also calculate capital ratios and classify financial institutions according to the adequacy of their capitalization. If an examination reveals that an institution is not complying with the law or that it is undercapitalized, the regulator will assign the institution unsatisfactory ratings or classifications in the institution's examination report. The institution is then subject to penalties that are authorized or required by law, including restrictions on asset growth, expansion, and other activities.

Community financial institutions argue that their compliance costs have gone up as they attempt to keep up with new regulations and more intrusive examinations. New regulations and higher compliance costs have forced small banks and credit unions to cut back on the services they offer to their customers. As a result, local banks are increasingly unable to provide consumers with the products and services that they need and want. The higher threshold cost of compliance programs has also accelerated the pace of industry consolidation as efficiency concerns drive financial institutions to merge. The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, for example, describes its process for examinations, "During an on-site bank exam, supervisors gather private information, such as details on problem loans, with which to evaluate a bank's financial condition and to monitor its compliance with laws and regulatory policies. A key product of such an exam is a supervisory rating of the bank's overall condition, commonly referred to as a CAMELS rating."

This rating system is used by the three federal banking supervisors (the Federal Reserve, the FDIC, and the OCC) and other financial supervisory agencies to provide a convenient summary of bank conditions at the time of an exam. The acronym "CAMEL" refers to the five components of a bank's condition that are assessed: Capital adequacy, Asset quality, Management, Earnings, and Liquidity. A sixth component, a bank's Sensitivity to market risk, was added in 1997; hence the acronym was changed to CAMELS. Ratings are assigned for each component in addition to the overall rating of a bank's financial condition. The ratings are assigned on a scale from 1 to 5. Banks with ratings of 1 or 2 are considered to present few, if any, supervisory concerns, while banks with ratings of 3, 4, or 5 present moderate to extreme degrees of supervisory concern.

However, paragraph (4) of Section 10(d) of the FDIA provides that certain insured depository institutions may be examined every 18 months. To qualify for this longer examination cycle:

- The institution must be found, at its most recent examination, to be well managed and must earn a 1 (outstanding) or 2 (good) rating under the Uniform Financial Institutions Rating System, commonly referred to as CAMELS;
- The institution must have total assets of less than $500 million;
- The institution must not be currently subject to a formal enforcement proceeding; and ¹These safety and soundness ratings are known as CAMELS ratings. CAMELS stand for capital adequacy, asset quality, management quality, earnings, liquidity, and sensitivity to market risk.

- The institution must not have undergone a change in control during the previous 12-month period.

Congress raised the threshold for CAMELS 1-rated institutions from $250 million to $500 million in 2006², and granted agencies discretion to increase the threshold for 2-rated institutions in 2007.³ In a 2007 rulemaking raising the 2-rated threshold to $500 million, the federal banking agencies estimated that a total of 6,670 insured depository institutions qualified for the 18-month exam cycle.⁴

In the 114th Congress, H.R. 22, the FAST Act (P.L. 114–94) included Rep. Tipton’s legislation, H.R. 1553, the Small Bank Exam Cycle Reform Act of 2015, which President Obama signed into law on December 4, 2015. H.R. 1553 increased from $500 million to $1 billion, the total asset threshold below which an agency may apply an 18-month (rather than a 12-month) on-site examination cycle for an institution with “outstanding” composite ratings, and to raise, from not more than $100 million to not more than $200 million, the total asset threshold below which an agency may apply an 18-month examination cycle to an institution with an “outstanding” or “good” composite rating.

In December 2016, the federal banking agencies issued final rules to implement H.R. 1553 and extend the on-site exam cycle for banks with up to $1 billion in assets from 12 months to 18 months.⁵

H.R. 5076 would raise the asset eligibility threshold for smaller, well-rated financial institutions—those which pose little risk—to qualify for extended exam cycles from $1 billion to $3 billion. As amended by an amendment offered by the Ranking Member, H.R. 5076 also requires the Government Accountability Office to report on the effect of extending the examination cycle.

COMMITTEE OVERSIGHT FINDINGS

Pursuant to clause 3(c)(1) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the findings and recommendations of the Committee based on oversight activities under clause 2(b)(1) of rule X of the Rules of the House of Representatives, are incorporated in the descriptive portions of this report.

PERFORMANCE GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

Pursuant to clause 3(c)(4) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee states that H.R. 5076 will reduce regulatory burden on well managed smaller depository institutions by permitting a greater number of such institutions to be examined by federal financial regulators once every 18 months instead of once every 12 months.

NEW BUDGET AUTHORITY, ENTITLEMENT AUTHORITY, AND TAX EXPENDITURES

In compliance with clause 3(c)(2) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee adopts as its own the estimate of new budget authority, entitlement authority, or tax expenditures or revenues contained in the cost estimate prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office pursuant to section 402 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974.

CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE ESTIMATES

Pursuant to clause 3(c)(3) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the following is the cost estimate provided by the Congressional Budget Office pursuant to section 402 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974:

U.S. CONGRESS,
CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE,
Washington, DC, April 5, 2018.

Hon. JEB HENSARLING,
Chairman, Committee on Financial Services, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The Congressional Budget Office has prepared the enclosed cost estimate for H.R. 5076, the Small Bank Exam Cycle Improvement Act of 2018.

If you wish further details on this estimate, we will be pleased to provide them. The CBO staff contact is Sarah Puro.

Sincerely,

KEITH HALL,
Director.

Enclosure.

H.R. 5076—Small Bank Exam Cycle Improvement Act of 2018

H.R. 5076 would amend the Federal Deposit Insurance Act to increase the maximum size of certain financial institutions that are eligible to have on-site bank examinations once every 18 months instead of once every 12 months.

Current information about bank assets indicates that 600 to 700 institutions could qualify for the change in frequency of examinations under H.R. 5076. Using information from the federal banking regulators, CBO expects that bank examiners who now conduct examinations on-site would instead generally examine the affected banks remotely, as would be permitted by the bill. In addition, CBO expects that enacting H.R. 5076 would not affect future costs to resolve failed financial institutions because federal regulators would continue to exercise oversight of the institutions and could impose more frequent examinations of any institution for which they deemed more oversight to be necessary. As a result, CBO estimates that the net budgetary effects of enacting H.R. 5076 would be insignificant.

Enacting H.R. 5076 could affect direct spending by federal agencies that regulate financial institutions; therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures apply. However, CBO estimates that the net effect on direct spending would be insignificant for each year. Enacting the bill would not affect revenues.

CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 5076 would not significantly increase net direct spending or on-budget deficits in any of the four consecutive 10-year periods beginning in 2028.

H.R. 5076 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is Sarah Puro. The estimate was approved by H. Samuel Papenfuss, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

the depository institution shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than $5,000 for each day that any such refusal continues.

(1) STATE BANK SUPERVISORS OF HOME AND HOST STATES.—

(A) HOME STATE OF BANK.—The appropriate State bank supervisor of the home State of an insured State bank has authority to examine and supervise the bank.

(B) HOST STATE BRANCHES.—The State bank supervisor of the home State of an insured State bank and any State bank supervisor of an appropriate host State shall exercise its respective authority to supervise and examine the branches of the bank in a host State in accordance with the terms of any applicable cooperative agreement between the home State bank supervisor and the State bank supervisor of the relevant host State.

(C) SUPERVISORY FEES.—Except as expressly provided in a cooperative agreement between the State bank supervisors of the home State and any host State of an insured State bank, only the State bank supervisor of the home State of an insured State bank may levy or charge State supervisory fees on the bank.

(2) HOST STATE EXAMINATION.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—With respect to a branch operated in a host State by an out-of-State insured State bank that resulted from an interstate merger transaction approved under section 44, or that was established in such State pursuant to section 5155(g) of the Revised Statutes of the United States, the third undesignated paragraph of section 9 of the Federal Reserve Act or section 18(d)(4) of this Act, the appropriate State bank supervisor of such host State may—

(i) with written notice to the State bank supervisor of the bank's home State and subject to the terms of any applicable cooperative agreement with the State bank supervisor of such home State, examine such branch for the purpose of determining compliance with host State laws that are applicable pursuant to section 24(j), including those that govern community reinvestment, fair lending, and consumer protection; and

(ii) if expressly permitted under and subject to the terms of a cooperative agreement with the State bank supervisor of the bank's home State or if such out-of-State insured State bank has been determined to be in a troubled condition by either the State bank supervisor of the bank's home State or the bank's appropriate Federal banking agency, participate in the examination of the bank by the State bank supervisor of the bank's home State to ascertain that the activities of the branch in such host State are not conducted in an unsafe or unsound manner.

(B) NOTICE OF DETERMINATION.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—The State bank supervisor of the home State of an insured State bank shall notify the State bank supervisor of each host State of the bank if there has been a final determination that the bank is in a troubled condition.

(ii) TIMING OF NOTICE.—The State bank supervisor of the home State of an insured State bank shall provide notice under clause (i) as soon as is reasonably possible, but in all cases not later than 15 business days after the date on which the State bank supervisor has made such final determination or has received written notification of such final determination.

(3) HOST STATE ENFORCEMENT.—If the State bank supervisor of a host State determines that a branch of an out-of-State insured State bank is violating any law of the host State that is applicable to such branch pursuant to section 24(j), including a law that governs community reinvestment, fair lending, or consumer protection, the State bank supervisor of the host State or, to the extent authorized by the law of the host State, a host State law enforcement officer may, with written notice to the State bank supervisor of the bank's home State and subject to the terms of any applicable cooperative agreement with the State bank supervisor of the bank's home State, undertake such enforcement actions and proceedings as would be permitted under the law of the host State as if the branch were a bank chartered by that host State.

(4) COOPERATIVE AGREEMENT.—
